A Fleeting Summer's Day

The gray day appears to match the mood of these Salisbury Beach-goers, as Photographer Rose Lewis caught them shuffling along toward home. Perhaps they're thinking that nine months of school separate them from another summer of fun.

Schools Set To Open Thursday

Back to school bells will chime bright and early next Thursday morning, for nearly 6500 Andover public school youngsters.

While Thursday will be the first full day of classes for all, Andover High sophomores will report Wednesday morning for a half-day of orientation.

Teachers will already have met in the West Junior High School Auditorium at 9 o'clock Tuesday, then regrouped at their respective buildings for the remainder of Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bus routes are printed in today's TOWNSMAN for the "riders," those secondary pupils who generally speaking, live more than a mile and a half from school, and elementary pupils who live more than a mile.

The 2100 "walkers," however, should time themselves to arrive at the elementary yschools at 8:30, and at the junior highs at 7:35 a.m.

The high school warning bell will ring at 7:40 a.m., and all pupils are to be in their homerooms by the final bell at 7:45. All secondary schools let out at 2:05 p.m., and elementaries, at 2:45 p.m.

Enrollment Shifts

While the total school enrollment is not expected to vary much from the 6450 or so pupils who finished up in the spring,

Associate Superintendent Harry Westcott says there will still be an "awful space crunch" at both junior highs. The much talked about population "bulge" will be in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

East Junior High facilities are scheduled at an "unheard of" 98 per cent, Westcott says, with the cafeteria slated for instructional time at least 50 per cent of the day.

Last spring, he says, there were 841 pupils in West and 782 in East -- each built for about 700 pupils. East's enrollment will jump to well over 800 next week, since 567 pupils are entering from the sixth to seventh grade, and only 529 ninth graders went on to high school.

At the same time, the 529 new sophomores will be replacing 451 June graduates, without any expansion of staff and facilities.

That net increase of about 70 will bring the high school's enrollment to about 1520 -- in a building designed for 1200 pupils.

Expanded Library

Because of the school committee's belt tightening, few major changes were made in school facilities this year. However, the Sanborn School Media Center has received some extra elbow room.

A storage closet across the hall, formerly used to store groundskeeping equipment and the like, was preempted for store of library materials, freeing up space in the library proper. A partition was also removed and new shelves added.

And other materials will be stored in a small shed being built at the back side of the building.

By way of new programs, Westcott is particularly pleased with a new pilot program of career education in the seventh grade at East Junior High.

The program will provide "hands on" experiences, as well as field trips and visits from representatives of different fields.

The twice-a-week program will be offered as an "alter-

Taxes Down Again

Andover's tax rate was officially set this week at $51, a reduction of $2 from last year's levy.

This makes the second year in a row the taxes have dropped. The 1974 rate of $53 was down $1 from the previous year.

Assessor William H. Russell explains the reduction as an increase in property valuations since, he says, the net amount to be raised by taxation is about the same as last year. Total valuation for the town, he says, is now about $240 million.

The new rate reflects $29.50 in school costs and $21.50 for town government expenses. The school portion is down about 50 cents from last year and the town's down about $1.50.

Russell met with the Department of Corporations and Taxation and the Bureau of Accounts in the State House Tuesday, to get his figures approved.

The tax cut means about $90 in the pocket of a person whose home is assessed at $45,000.

Even though residents may enjoy the $2 benefit this year, however, he said they can expect an increase next year, due to some built-in costs that will be coming up.

Police Seek Gunman

A Lawrence cab driver who was shot on Riverina Road Friday night, had recovered enough Tuesday afternoon to give Andover Police some new clues in the case.

Cabbie George LaFland of Methuen was critically wounded in the stomach and shoulder while taking a fare from Cedar Street, Lawrence, supposedly to Converse Rubber Co. here.

He was still in intensive care

Sheltered Workshop Gets Board's Okay

A sheltered workshop to provide educational and occupational training for young adults who are severely retarded, was given the go-ahead by the Andover School Committee last week.

The program will be held in the old North Street School, now the West Andover Community Center, for up to 10 pupils, with two teachers and one aide.

Mrs. Pamela Kvilekval, pupil personnel administrator for the Chapter 766 program in Andover, said the program will teach 16 to 21-year-old pupils to do simple labor -- craft-type things -- for which they will be paid.

She said they are looking for ideas for simple projects that would fill that bill.

These are individuals who were previously institutionalized or just went home, Mrs. Kvilekval said, adding that this workshop will be an "interim thing." When the pupils reach 22, the town will no longer be required by the state to provide for their special needs, and they will be going on into other workshop-type situations.

The program was conceived at the beginning of the year, through meetings with special needs parent who were concerned about vocational training for their youngsters -- something that would make their futures meaningful.

The Selectmen have already agreed to the use of the building, Mrs. Kvilekval said, and North Andover, which will also send some pupils, will contribute a teacher and some funds for materials.

The Vocational School, just across the road, will add a teacher and an aide, and the Department of Recreation/Community schools will supervise recreation in the late afternoons and evenings.

Andover will not be providing any salaries, Mrs. Kvilekval said, but asked the School Committee for funds for renovation of the building.

Some $2820 from the secondary school special education budget was then authorized by the committee for that project.

Committeeman George Olesen, acting chairman in the summer absence of Frank Griggs, said he thought the idea was long overdue, but questioned the procedure used to get the project this far.

"I had no knowledge of it until three weeks ago," he said. "If your time is going to be devoted to new areas, the board should be allowed to express priorities.

"It is a matter of public courtesy between the administration and the committee," he said.

Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert asked if Olesen wanted the administration "to stop all projects . . . to stop ideas in the feasibility stages."

Mrs. Elaine Viehmann said she was glad Olesen had said it was his "personal opinion because it's not written policy. They are educational experts," she said of the administrators, "who know where the holes and needs are."

"As long as they are not neglecting policy already set, they have the right to study and dream and come to us with where they think we should be."

Committeeman David Ahouse added that if Olesen was saying that original thinking should be allowed only after being okayed by the school committee, "I think that's wrong."

Austin Commended, Greenberg Elected

It was "turnabout's fair" last week, for Selectman Chairman Milton Greenberg and Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

Greenberg publicly commended Austin for 25 years of public service in city management, and Austin in turn reported that Greenberg had been elected to the executive board of the Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns.

Austin had served in administrative posts in Williamstown, Mass., and in several Maine communities, before becoming executive secretary in Sharon. He came to Andover in September, 1969, as the town's third manager, and last September became the first manager to be reappointed to a second five-year term.

Greenberg is in his second term as selectman and since March, 1974, has been chairman.

Austin was also named as Andover's representative to the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission, at the Selectmen's meeting last Monday night.

In other action, the Selectmen approved the closing of Beech Circle (upper end) on August 31, and Rolling Ridge Road, August 15, for block parties, and granted one-day beer licenses to Immaculate Conception Parish of Lowell for September 13 at the Christian Formation Center, and to the Prince Macaroni Co. of Lowell for August 16 at the same location.

They approved opening on Oak Street, to install gas service for Joseph Antanavoch at 8 Oak Street, and at Wildrose Drive, 56½ Summer Street, 64 Summer Street, 14 Woodland Drive, and Andover Street near the Horn Bridge, to repair gas mains.

Group To Plan Bikeways

A committee that will help plan special bike paths here in the future, was named by the Selectmen last week.

According to Assistant Town Manager Sheldon Cohen, having a special Bikeways Committee is a prerequisite for receiving federal assistance for any future projects.

Cohen says that bike paths would most likely be considered for scenic areas and in spots where they could connect to a county-wide bike system.

He says there are basically three types of bikeways: paved paths off the regular highway, paths along the shoulders of roads, and special lanes in existing roadways.

Those named include John M. McCoy, 4 Evergreen Lane; Audrey Kenney, 11 Sagamore Drive; Barbara Lybrand, 50 Shawsheen Road; Richard Chapell, 22 Stinson Road; and E. Mark Klempa, Jr., 13 Carlisle Street.

It's The Real Thing

House Breaks Continue

House breaks continue relatively unabated in Andover, Police said this week.

Sgt. Robert Parker said that while robberies appeared to be on the wane here for a while, that is no longer the case.

He indicated that residents should continue to be on the lookout and report any unusual activities in their neighborhoods, particularly around homes where owners are away.

Since unfamiliar cars have been sighted around some homes where breaking and enterings have occurred, police also suggest reporting any suspicious vehicles.

While August's tally of stolen goods won't be in from the FBI until at least next week, Parker said there have been a good number of robberies.

The police are continuing to beef up their force using extra patrolmen and detectives.

Meanwhile, in an apparently isolated case, suspects were apprehended in connection with a Wednesday larceny and breaking and entering at the home of Robert J. Macartney, 140 Argilla Road. A TV set and radio were stolen.

Frederick E. Yunggebauer of East Boston, formerly of Andover, pleaded innocent to charges and his case was continued until Sept. 10. He was released without bail.

Also apprehended in the case was a 16-year-old Andover youth.

Also reported last week was the robbery of a $140 tape deck and four tapes valued at $25, from a car parked on Haverhill Street. The owner was a Methuen man.

Subsidized Lunches Available

The free and reduced price milk and meal policy for school children unable to pay the full price, is once again in effect in Andover public schools.

Application forms for the program are available in the offices of the various schools, and eligibility is determined on the basis of family size and income.

Richard Barron, director of food services, says that families with higher incomes may also be eligible, if they have unusually high medical, shelter, or special education expenses, or disaster or casualty losses.

Barron reviews all applications and determines eligibility.

Pomps Pond Closes Tuesday

Tuesday is the last day for swimming at Pomps Pond, which will officially be closed until next summer.

The pond can be used after that however, by persons who apply at the Department of Recreation / Community Schools and hire a lifeguard.

He also explains that every meal, over those lunches served at "full price," are subsidized to some degree, so there should be no reluctance to apply for either a free or reduced price meal.

Information on the applications is strictly confidential, he says, and policy also provides that there is to be no identification and/or discrimination against any child because of ineligibility to pay the full price of the meal.

Applications may also be submitted any time during the school year, should a family's situation change. In some cases, foster children are eligible regardless of the family income.

Police Seek Gunman

Wednesday when doctors allowed police to question him, and he armed them with a physical description of his assailant.

He also told them the gunman had been picked up by a waiting car, and had made off with about $10.

LaFland, dispatched to pick up his passenger by the Schlapp's B&M Taxi Company, jumped out of his car and ran after the shooting. He was picked up in shock in Shawsheen square by police about 11:40 p.m.

He told police on the way to the hospital that only one man was involved in the shooting, and that he thought he used a .38 caliber weapon.

Police say a bullet was recovered at the hospital, and that checking a Cedar Street resident list against Converse employee information had yielded no leads.

LaFland, 34, is the father of two children.

29 Items On Warrant

though the trustees have emphasized that they have no specific plans at the moment.

The engineering studies would center around addition of some 72,000 feet of water mains, and a three million gallon storage reservoir at Prospect Hill. The projects would cost an estimated $3.5 million if carried out, and the selectmen have urged the Town Manager and Public Works Director to establish a list of priorities.

Under a new selectmen policy, major money items all to be considered only at the regular spring Town Meeting, except in an emergency or by "courtesy."

The Andover Companies is seeking a change from one-family residence to general business zone, for property it already owns adjacent to its small parking lot on North Main Street.

Two years ago The Andover Companies moved two homes from that property, and extended their iron fence and shrubbery across the front, in hopes of expanding its off-street parking.

The rest of The Andover Companies property is already zoned for general business.

The selectmen are also seeking general authorization for the town manager to apply for federal funds for some sort of project for low income residents.

They emphasize that the authorization is for application only, and that if the funds were granted, a subsequent Town Meeting would have to give approval before they were actually expended.

One possible application, which the selectmen generally favored last spring, would be rehabilitation of single family homes owned by senior citizens.

Other articles inserted by the selectmen include purchase of some police equipment, establishment of an industrial development financing authority, two changes in the plumbing by-law to conform with the state code, enforcement authorization for the assistant building inspector, the setting of permit fees, funds for the widening of Cross Street and High Plain Roads, increase of maximum fines for violation of the Town bylaws from $50 to $200, and a routine transfer of funds.

The police department has asked for replacement of its 1972 Cushman three-wheeler used to patrol the downtown area, a new, more accurate radar machine, and four short wave radios.

An industrial development financing authority of sorts was approved by Town Meeting in 1968, but had never been activated.

This article has also not been given the support of the selectmen, but was accepted by them as a "courtesy."

Another private article seeks separate contracts for the collection and disposal of garbage in Andover.

The town in May combined collections of garbage and trash at a savings to the town, according to Assistant Town Manager Sheldon Cohen, of about $70,000 a year.

The other private articles involve acceptance of private roads as "public ways." They have been basically accepted by the planning board and the selectmen and await voter approval to come under the auspices of the town. The town is not under any duty to maintain any street until it meets town standards.

Among those listed are Whiffletree Circle, Tally Ho Lane, a portion of High Plain Road between its 1960 relocation over I-495 and Cross Street, Cross Street just north of that intersection, Cardinal Lane, Bridle Path Road west of Landau Lane, Paulornette Circle, Seneca Circle, Ivanhoe Lane, Eagle Way, Donna Road, Penobscot Way, Mohawk Road, sections of Farrwood Drive and Agawam Lane.

native," Westcott says, along with industrial arts and foreign language.

"We are very concerned about putting out people who are functionally literate," Westcott goes on, and to that end says they've developed a "very definitive assessment procedure" for grades three, six and nine.

One of the problems with IMS (Individualized Math System) has been that some advanced pupils have completed its nine levels halfway through the fifth grade.

This summer, the staff developed 10 math units to keep youngsters challenged once they've completed IMS. They include such topics as metrics, aerodynamics, astronomy, navigation, - - "high interest level things."

English grammar has been sort of pushed into the background, he goes on, and the staff has worked up a series of

School Aides Renamed

More than 60 aides have been reappointed to Andover schools positions the coming school year.

Many of them are part-time, however, and Associate Superintendent Harry Westcott assured that the number actually comes out to 49.22 full-time aides.

He was challenged on that issue by Acting Chairman George Olesen at last week's school committee meeting. Olesen wanted to make sure that no more aides were hired than allowed by school committee policy, which calls for one aide for 85 pupils in the elementary schools, "plus or minus 6."

Westcott said that including special needs aides, the elementary number comes out to 37.8, whereas 43 would be allowed, exclusive of special needs aides.

While aides do not in any way take the place of teachers, Westcott explained that they take over many of the clerical duties and other services that allow teachers to spend more time directly with the youngsters.

Teaching aides (T.A.'s) assist teachers only, while instructional aides (I.A.'s) may actually do some instructing, under the supervision of the regular teachers.

Reappointed, by school and assignment, are the following:

Floating Bloodmobile Launched

A floating bloodmobile will be sponsored by the New England Aquarium, in conjunction with the Red Cross over the Labor Day weekend, aboard the Aquarium's floating amphitheater, the ship "Discovery." All donors will be guests of the ship, where bottlenose dolphins and sea lions perform, as well as the Aquarium Museum.

The blood campaign will run Saturday, Sunday and Monday on the top deck of the 180-foot vessel, docked alongside the Museum. Donor hours are from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Labor Day weekend was chosen by the Museum for this drive because the three-day holiday historically brings about the highest blood usage during any holiday in the year.

Last Labor Day weekend, hospital blood requests in Massachusetts reached a record proportion of well over 1,000 pints during a 72-hour period. With daily blood collections severely cut back by better than 50 per cent since June, Nelson Vogelsohn, administrative director of the Red Cross blood program, predicts an even worse situation this Labor Day.

"If it were not for the volume of donors who responded to the New England Aquarium bloodmobile in the past two years the Red Cross would not have been able to meet even emergency requests over the Labor Day weekend."

The Aquarium bloodmobile last Labor Day brought in over 700 pints of blood and better than one third of the people who responded were first time donors.

Parents who bring their children will be provided with babysitting service. Donors travelling to the Aquarium by car will find ample free parking at the Harbor Towers Garage on Atlantic Ave. across from the Aquarium. Those coming by MBTA can take the Blue Line to Aquarium Station.

Lyons Plaque Sent Back

Former School Committee member John Lyons received a service plaque from his ex-colleagues last week, then turned it back for correction.

The engraving noted his services as "1973 - 1976."

Lyons said he would "just as soon dream that it was true," since his term was not due to expire until 1976.

He resigned June 30, 1975, however, after attempts to get special legal counsel for the school committee failed. He also indicated concern for the welfare of his family, since his management consulting business had been threatened and his home pelted with garbage.

He said he had come to last Tuesday night's meeting

"because George Olesen asked me to," and added that he believed in Olesen and what he was trying to accomplish.

He expressed concern "because I don't like to see duly elected, honest and sincere people removed from office . . . particularly in this traumatic time."

He said the election system had been subverted and he called it a "dangerous thing to have happen to the Democratic process."

Bunker Hill Attraction

On the exact waterfront site where the British regulars beached their boats to storm the hastily-built Bunker Hill bastions of the ragtag Yankee militia, is the newly built Bunker Hill Pavilion.

It features the presentation, "The Whites of Their Eyes," a multimedia dramatic reenactment of the Battle of Bunker Hill. The Pavilion is situated adjacent to the U.S.S. Constitution.

Mens League in Semi-Finals

The Recreation Community Schools Department Men's Softball League is now in the semi-final round of the playoffs.

The regular season ended in a three-way tie for the top spot between Doherty's, Embassy, and the Andover Hockey Shop. Thus a flip of the coin decided the various playoff berths. Embassy won the toss claiming first place and a bye in the first round and Doherty's took second, also receiving a bye in the first round.

With the top six teams in the 12 team league making the play offs, the Andover Hockey Shop met Dana's and Whitworths met Town Grill in the opening round, best two out of three series.

Dana's took the first game from the Hockey Shop 6-1 as Tom Comparato threw a sparkling four hitter. For Dana's Walsh had two hits and Ted Palmeri collected two hits for the Hockey Shop. Defensive standouts were Mike Trombly for the Hockey Shop and Rick Ganley for Dana's.

In the second game the Hockey

Shop came back to take a 4-1 decision from Dana's and force a three game series. Starks was the winning pitcher, giving up just six hits. Providing the RBI's for the Hockey Shop were Ron Stanton, Ted Palmieri, Joe Leonardi and Kevin O'Brien. Vito Ciati collected two hits for Dana's.

The final game went 10 innings before the hockey Shop finally pushed the winning run across the plate to take the series from Dana's. With the score 72 in the bottom of the seventh inning the Hockey Shop rallied for five runs to tie the game and send the game into extra innings. Keith Starks highlighted the rally with a bases loaded double. Then came into score on a misplayed ball to tie up the game. The winning run scored on a double by Ted Palmieri who was singled home by Joe Leonardi. Playing well defensively for the Hockey Shop were Broderick, Klempa and Leonardi. Hitting stars for Dana's were Ciati, Shea and Hurley.

Town Grill took the first game of their series with Whitworths 9-8, fighting off a strong Whitworth's rally in the seventh but just couldn't come up with another victory to take the series.

Whitworths took the second game 4-3 in extra innings then won the series with a 6-2 victory in the third game. Paul Howe hit a home run for Whitworths to help power them to the win.

Playgrounds Wind Up Summer Activities

Ballardvale

The summer has ended and Ballardvale Playground has closed. It won't be a summer that anyone on the playground will forget.

There was July - a hot month when the 'Vale had no workable water outlet. The shed which stores as much equipment as the large schools on other playgrounds was done over. The Red, White and Blue colors which cover the shed blend well into the Bicentennial theme of Andover. The picnic tables were stripped and stained. Most of the work was done by the St. Amunds (Russell, Raymond, Rodman, Roger and Ryan), and Roufs (George and Kenny) and the Becottes (Chuck, Billy and Bobby).

Those three families with the addition of Doug Nichols, Tim Lemay, Buddy and Steve Ford, made up the 'Vale's fearsome sports teams. The 'Vale went undefeated in softball - winning the championship against Shawsheen. Ballardvale was co-champion with West in street hockey, and undefeated in basketball play.

The 'Vale wasn't all sports though - there were checker and chess tournaments, skits, Halloween Parties, Birthday Parties, Indian PowWows, clean-up days, field trips to the fire station and dairy, and most anything else one could imagine.

Sue and Sharon Parker, Susan and Chrissie Conley, Veronica "Dimples" Croak, Heather Taylor, Susan and Kelly Conley, Kim and Janet formed an excellent cheering squad. Although the 'Vale placed third in the cheering contest which they held early in August, they won second on Good Sports day at South.

All the regulars down the 'Vale will remember little Joey's "Marshmello," Bobby "Behop," and no smoking area, the "Greg will you push us" plea, the "Can I have a sip, Kim?" order, the Janet and Russell in the shed routine.

The 'Vale was informal and run for the kids who attended. The highest achievement this summer was the decrease in vandalism. The damage went from great $$$ last year, to none this year. Also accomplished was an overnight loan program in which equipment was given out on the basis of trust. The trust was well founded. Softball games after supper dotted the summer at the 'Vale as twice a week the shed would be open at night for the use of anyone who showed up. The smallest playground with the least equipment had a carnival last weekend symbolizing the epitome of 'Vale pride determination, and playground spirit. They did it in sports, in fund raising, and now with their great carnival. Thank you all for a great summer. Kim, Janet, Russ and Greg.

Doherty

The closing week at Doherty proved to be a good one. Attendance picked up after a slight lag in earlier weeks, and activities were at their fullest.

Monday included activities from clay making to singing as everyone was in the mood for fun.

Tuesday the playground kids prepared for a birthday party. Decorations, posters and banners were the subject of the activities with most everyone taking part.

Wednesday was birthday day as the playground broke into the party spirit with cake and song and wish Carol a Happy Birthday.

Thursday's highlight was the barnyard holler. Being the last point event of the year the competition was hot and heavy but in the end the dogs won by a great margin.

Friday was the day to say good bye. The final hours were spent with the kids enjoying ice cream

Sanborn

The summer has reached its end now and everyone is getting ready to go back to school. It was a wonderful summer and one that won't be easily forgotten.

The last week at the playground was full of fun. With Jeff Kennedy's borrowed kickball, we played South. Lisa Horgan, Lance Pitt Hult and Elise Balboni were the top scorers. Robin Colombosian and Gina Comparato kept everyone in good dancing condition after breakfast. Steve Colitz, Paul Pathiakis, Eddie Melia and Mike Melia were the biggest helpers in setting up the breakfast.

Tuesday was our fun filled car wash to help raise money to replace broken equipment. We were able to raise enough money to buy new hooola hoops and have a wonderful birthday party. The best car washers were Steve Kelley, Jeff Kennedy, Joey Faro, Robin Colombosian, Beth Kelley, Ellen Byrne, Deanna Faro and Kim Byrne. The birthday party was a huge success. Irene Constance and Terry made a big teddy bear cake, McDonald's lent Sanborn some orange drink, and popsicles and fudgsicles took the place of ice cream.

On last week's scavenger hunt the girls were triumphant over the boys, but it was close. The final water fight was great, everyone got soaked!

Friday the Sanbornites did a superb clean-up job to get their final points. Paul Pathiakis was the male trophy winner with Jeff Kennedy a close second and Marsha Cummings won the girls trophy with Lisa Horgan and Robin Colombosian tied at a close second. Everyone was happy with their auction bargains.

A super duper thanks goes to Leo Sheibler, Les Dixon and Morris Williams without whose help the summer wouldn't have been such a success.

O'Shea, planned a haunted house that would scare the daylights out of any self-respecting spook! (To tell the truth I'm glad I was wearing a blind-fold!)

Thursday it was clean-up the playground all day. And, for some reason, pick-on-Ann day too. Must have been the full moon! At 1 p.m. 13 of us peddled our way to Recreation Park for the annual overnight - and the last - Friday we had our ice cream smorgasbord, complete with all the fixin's for a great sundae. And of course, Mr. and Ms. West Playground for 1975 were Mark Desmet and Debbie Flieder. Congratulations you two!

Looking back over the summer at West, it just doesn't seem possible that 8 weeks have gone by, remember the Science Center? The dance Marathon? Canobie Lake? The Talent Show?

So, as the sun sets over the square ball court and the Wild West closes for yet another summer. Have a good year and thanks for helping us have a Wild, Wild Summer!

Good-bye from - Kathy, Ann, Myles, Davie and Sue.

Playgrounds Shawshen

The Shawshen Sluggers ended the summer with a week filled with more spirit than seen all summer. The week was started with a bike hike all the way to Harold Parker Forest with stops to pick and eat crab apples.

Wednesday we took a hearty crew down to Pumps Pond where they enjoyed both the swimming and the rides. Thursday the whole playground enjoyed ice cream sundaes with every topping imaginable.

Shawshen playground became the dancing capitol of Andover for the week. We had the most dedicated Bumpers and Hustlers around, including both sexes and all ages. Our gym became the dance floor for our final Bump contest on Friday. Winnings for the best dance routines were Sharon Suidut, Rosa Romero, Annie Romero and Amanda Travers; Kenny Taylor and John Howell received the most ridiculous.

On Friday we also had closing ceremonies and final awards. Some of the awards were: Most Athletic - Pat Mercier and John Howell; Most Creative - Timmy Sirois; Most Pleasant - Sharon Suidut; Big Brother - Kenny Taylor; Big Sister - Nicole Marcella; Most Cooperative - Andrew Mailloux and Best All Around - Deana Martone and Greg Hopwood.

South

What was a summer at South like? There really isn't too much one can say. How one person remembers the summer depends upon his part in the playgrounds success. Now everyone has gone pursuing different interests and soon be off to school, but for two months everyone functioned as one unit - as whole - realizing what it means to be a team.

The final week was started off with a mock trial. Each child was given a role to play, either bailiff, crook, seller, judge, lawyer, jury, policeman etc. The crooks were given play money and the sellers were given jewelry. The sellers had to peddle the stolen jewelry to the crooks without being caught. With Maranda Cards in their pockets and clever schemes up their sleeves, our great police force, Jo Jo Saalfrank, Beth Ann Lancaster and FBI agent Rich Brideau arrested all the sellers and crooks except the sly David Jones.

Wednesday our trials were held and Judge Issenberg in her long robe rapped with her gavel and demanded silence in the court room. Prosecuting Attorney J. M. Brideau won the first case of the State of Massachusetts vs David Doucette. Mr. Doucette was sentenced and fined. Defense Attorney Karen Saalfrank then got her next three clients off on technicalities. The game was wrapped up with a visit to the Andover Police Department.

Other events for the week included a trip in Lawrence to Bruce's Bakery. The children got to see rolls and pastry being made and also helped a little. Hey cutie! How were the chocolate chip cookies? The day didn't end there. Next, was a ride on George's horse and wagon up and down Broadway. Thank you Mr. Leland. Mrs. Anna Pavlenkov then treated the children to spring water and cookies and played a few songs on the piano. Thanks for the hospitality.

Now it was off to the swim meet. With the help of the Saalfunks, Kovacs and Lancaster's how could we lose? We didn't! Friday ended the year off with ice cream - compliments of Leo Slombo, and awards. The playground wants to thank Carrie for the use of her ping pong table, Ralph, Joe, Mr. Finnerty, Mr. Slombo, Mr. Woodward, Mark, Joan, Linda and Gary for helping us kick off our first year with tremendous success. Goodbye, it was great! Carrie, Linda, Steve and Redge.

West

This last week, at the Wild West it was jam packed with excitement!

Monday, was our roaring twenties day, we stuffed 4 counselors and 25 kids into Myles' car!

At the goldfish eating contest (were they actually real?) Scott Amsterdam was champ, with Ann Concemi and Mark Desmet close behind.

The chief greasers for the day were Billy "Cool Cat" Gallant and Joey "Fonzi" DeQuattro.

Tuesday's highlight was making chocolate chip ice cream (but blame Sue for putting all the chips on top.)

Wednesday at the Halloween party, Marc Pierrat ate his way to first place, leaving nothing but the hole, in the donut on a string contest. Michael Flieder, won the booby prize in bobbing for apples, (you're all wet Mike!) At the costume judging, Heather Wilson, in her colonial garb took first place.

Then, to bring the day to a screeching halt, Ann and Cathy, with some help from Cindy

Shawsheen's Golden Years

Havana Cigars And Crystal Balls

Shawsheen's Valley Forge

Shawsheen Village in the 1920's was a brief but gilded era.

Villagers danced to jazz bands on the terrace of the Balmoral Spa, watched silent movies at the Shawsheen theater and played tennis at the Balmoral Fields.

And, as William M. Wood, Sr., the dreamer and developer of Shawsheen, used to boast, "The Spa was the only place north of Boston where one could buy a $1 Havana cigar."

According to Dr. Edward G. Roddy, Jr., a historian studying the one-time corporate community, Shawsheen offered residents a stylish and complete lifestyle that was virtually unheard of at the time.

Roddy is working with the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum on a project to look at both Shawsheen and Lawrence's North Canal district with a view towards what historic mill buildings and areas should be preserved.

The project, "What Should We Save? Greater Lawrence After the Bicentennial," will ask for a consensus on the question of reconciling preservation with progress at public forums in each community this fall.

A special exhibit on the history of Shawsheen will also be held September 15 to 30 at the Andover Savings Bank in Andover.

Funding for the project was made available by a grant from the Massachusetts Foundation for Humanities and Public Safety, an affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

"Shawsheen wasn't the average company town," said

Historian Dr. Edward G. Roddy, Jr. (left) and Donald P. Hayes, Jr., a vice president of the Andover Historical Society, face the one-time Shawsheen boys clubhouse, a stone - by - stone exact replica of one at Valley Forge where George Washington spent the 1777-1778 winter. Roddy is studying Shawsheen Village as part of the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum project, "What Should We Save? Greater Lawrence After the Bicentennial."

Roddy. "It was designed for executives and middle management, not production line workers, and was a startling departure from other planned communities of the period."

Included in Shawsheen were residential areas, a post office, administration building, creamery, merchants building, laundry, guest manor, spa, theater, restaurant, bowling alley, ballroom, power plants, garages, railway station, clubhouse and mills. Estimates for this venture in model village planning ranged from $15 million to $21 million.

The village, built between 1919-1923, was the grand design of Wood, head of the American Woolen Company, the largest worsted and woolen empire in the world with 59 mills and some 30,000 employees.

Wood, son of a Portuguese immigrant, rose to dazzling power in the textile world. According to Roddy, he planned Shawsheen with a paternalistic approach - everything was to follow his blueprint exactly. Legend has it that even windowboxes were specified to contain only red geraniums in the Spring.

The emphasis everywhere was on esthetics and order.

"All street lighting was uniform," noted Roddy. "And all wires, both electrical and telephone, were placed underground."

In addition, Roddy pointed out that each residence featured a sunken garbage container in the back yard. Other features Wood considered unesthetic - such as garages - were deliberately forbidden and residents parked in two large common garages, each with a capacity for over 200 cars. Both garages are now used by commercial car dealers.

Residential areas were divided into the expansive, luxury brick homes for executives on the west side and more modest but spacious white colonial frame units on the east side. By 1924 several hundred homes had been built in the two areas.

"The mills, executive buildings and all amenities were within a few minutes' walk," said Roddy. "It was the 'ideal' community until shortly after Wood's retirement in 1924. No one was left to continue his efforts and outside interests gradually began to buy away the buildings and his dream."

Shawsheen Village as Wood planned it was gradually phased out.

According to Roddy, in its golden years Shawsheen was a moveable feast, a period that old-time residents still savor today in their reminiscing.

"People came from all over Eastern Massachusetts to dance on the terrace at the Spa," Roddy noted. "You paid 55 cents a person and had a terrific evening."

The Spa, which was at the opposite end of the post office building on North Main and Balmoral streets, is now a part of the Andover offices.

Another favorite entertainment center was the Shawsheen Restaurant, now the vacated Cardinal Cushing Gymnasium on Haverhill Street.

"The restaurant was built in 1922 for employees but almost immediately became a public restaurant because of its popularity," said Roddy. "The dining room was 60 by 90 feet and seated 800, and was designed so it could be converted on Wednesday night and Saturday afternoon into a movie theatre seating 1,000."

The first film, a classic of the silent era, was "nanook of the North," directed by Robert Flaherty.

In 1923 Saturday night dances were inaugurated and the restaurant was transformed into the Crystal Ballroom. Dancers whirled under a giant crystal orb that revolved in the center of the room.

Roddy noted that by the end of the 1920's the restaurant had closed but the Crystal Ballroom remained, almost a symbol of the former village.

According to Roddy, the most controversial building in Shawsheen today is the former American Woolen Company administration building, recently the Sacred Heart School, which is under review by Andover citizens regarding its future use.

Recreation areas in Shawsheen included the 30-acre Balmoral Fields with soccer, hockey, baseball, ice skating and tennis. Residents could also bowl downstairs in the Shawsheen Restaurant building and swim in Hussey pond.

Boys clubs met in a small stone building on Haverhill Street next to the administration building. Inspired by a visit Wood made to Valley Forge, he had the building designed as an exact replica of George Washington's headquarters for the 1777-1778 winter.

According to Roddy, old and new photos and other memorabilia of Shawsheen in the 1920's will be incorporated in the September exhibit at the Andover Savings Bank. On Sept. 23 Roddy will be part of a panel at a public forum dealing with the history and current concerns of Shawsheen.

Schoolmen Okay Staff Changes

Officer Richard Aumais, who has looked after the safety of Andover School children for the past five years, resigned as safety officer.

The resignation was accepted by the School Committee last Tuesday night, and Aumais says he is now "just a plain patrolman."

He is succeeded by Officer Joe Hastings.

Acting Chairman George Olesen noted that Aumais had "always been extremely cooperative and helpful," and that "first and foremost was his consideration of the children and their welfare." He added that Aumais had sacrificed extra police details, which would have paid him extra money, because of the time he spent as safety officer.

Olesen however called for an overall review of the safety officer's job, along with that of the school bus administrator. He said he saw a duplication of their services.

The safety officer, Olesen said, designates bus routes and stops, and looks after the safety factor. He said he felt the individual safety officer could at the same time take on all the bus duties.

In addition, he said, the safety officer should be greatly involved in administration of fire safety in town, bicycle training, and swimming training and safety.

The school committee also accepted a number of other resignations, while making a few elections.

Among those resigning were Mrs. Patricia Colella, High School English teacher with the system since 1968, because of family commitments; Miss Jamie Davis, East Junior High music teacher since 1973, to further education; Dr. William Emmons, school visual consultant since 1938; Mrs. Joan Epstein, L.D. teacher - tutor since 1973; Mrs. Maryanne Johnson, English teacher at the high school, since 1968, to accept another position.

Also: Mrs. Laurie Kanter, guidance teacher at Bancroft since 1974, moving out of state; Ms. Carole Moore, science teacher at West Junior High, since 1972, going to Europe; Mrs. Anne Murphy, home economics at West Junior High since 1970, for personal reasons; Mrs. Cynthia Smith, just appointed to Grade 3 at Sanborn, moving out of town; Mrs. Allison Thomas, Spanish teacher at East Junior High since 1974, family commitments; and Mrs. Mary Lou Carrine, Grade 2 at Doherty, since 1962, moving out of state.

Elected to Andover school positions, effective September 1, were the following:

East Jr. High

Miss Noella Gonzalez of Belmont is returning to teach Spanish. She received her B.A. degree from Indiana University in 1968, and has taught English and social studies at the high school level in Gary, Indiana; Spanish at the Monson (Mass.) High School; Spanish at East Junior High, Andover; and bilingual education at Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Pamela Goody, who did her practice teaching at East Junior High and Andover High School, will teach music at East. She received her bachelor of music degree from Lowell State College in January, and lives in Tewksbury.

West Jr. High

Arthur Nichols of Andover will teach health at West Junior High. He received his B.S. degree at Plymouth State College, New Hampshire, in May, after practice teaching at Salem and Franklin (N.H.) high schools. He has Massachusetts certification in the fields of health and physical education.

School.

Some New (School) Year's Resolutions

Much of today's TOWNSMAN is given over to the printing of school bus routes - a rather important service if the youngsters are going to be at the right place at the right time for the first day of school next Thursday. (Sophomores, don't forget, get a head start on Wednesday.)

Falling to this page, however, is comment on the responsibility for the safety of those youngsters as they go to and from class, often oblivious to the dangers around them. So:

For the parents, we would resolve that they show their youngsters the safest route to the bus stop and supervise them there when necessary. We would also hope they will support the bus drivers in maintaining discipline on the bus.

For the youngsters, we would resolve that they wait for the bus off the roadway, that they obey the driver at all times, and avoid all actions and noises that might distract the driver and cause a serious accident. (The Bus Code is printed on page 30)

Responsible too, are the rest of us - those who climb behind the wheels or the handlebars, posing a threat to the pupils and their big yellow buses.

While laws regarding school buses are strict, and the blinking lights can normally be seen blocks away, it seems not always to be enough.

The greatest danger occurs when the youngsters cross the street in front of the buses - particularly from cars approaching from the opposite direction. One area where violations occur frequently is on North Main Street, where the roadway is wide, traffic is heavy, and there are many distractions.

For us the drivers, then, we would resolve to keep the buses and their "precious cargoes" foremost on our minds during school hours, always with the thought that one might be stopped just out of sight around the next bend or over the next hill.

We would also resolve to faithfully stop for a school bus stopped for children in either direction.

When in doubt about passing, we won't.

For the Andover Selectmen, we would resolve a speedy but thoughtful filling of the school committee opening.

Undisposed to move until School Chairman Frank Griggs returned from the summer, the selectmen should now have no further objections to replacing John Lyons, who resigned in June.

We trust that when the joint boards meet, they will spend their time in useful discourse, not in trying to out-wit and one-up the other.

While a shorthanded school board didn't cause the system to fall apart, further delay will only push the appointment nearer next spring's elections. It is only fair to an appointee - and the town - that he have time to learn his job before he gives it up.

For Committeeman George Olesen, who chaired his first July meeting with great dispatch, but took advantage of the August platform to vent his animosities, we would resolve that he shelve his "get Seifert" attitude and practice the improved communications he seeks from the administration.

Such outbursts aren't condoned in the classroom, and we feel they shouldn't be allowed at the board level either.

While they call for assessment of programs and personnel, we would resolve that the committee as a whole assess and agree on its policy-making responsibilities as granted by law, while leaving discretion in daily administration to its "executives" who were hired for the purpose.

For the administration, we would resolve a tightening of the ranks so that any future charges of foot-dragging or communication-sabotaging would have no foundation at all. We trust there will never again be any question but what committee members are treated equally and fairly.

For meeting goers, we would resolve that they take their Sunday manners and leave the sneers and personal vendettas at home.

Back on the road, we would resolve for the bus drivers, who have given such consistently fine service in the past, another accident-free year. For the teachers and staff who spruced up the buildings over the summer, and spent hours developing new programs, we also say thanks.

And for all, we would resolve a Happy New School Year.

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Ford Risking All On Business Program

by Jack Anderson
with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — President Ford has told subordinates that his chances of winning the 1976 election will depend upon the economy. He has asked them to give top priority to stimulating the economy.

The President believes the best way to do this is to hold down government spending and to encourage business investments. He intends to offer more incentives, therefore, to stimulate business.

He also swore to subordinates that he will continue to veto the big-spending bills that come out of Congress. This kind of spending, he believes, will only steepen inflation and drive up prices.

There is one curious exception to the President's policy. He not only doesn't mind high oil prices, but he would like to seem them go higher.

He has told subordinates earnestly that it will take high prices to compel Americans to cut back their oil consumption. This is essential, he said, to make the U.S. less dependent upon Arab oil. Thus, he is pushing ahead with plans to "de-control" the price of domestic oil.

While the oil companies rake in the money, meanwhile, the average American will see his wallet grow even thinner.

This is the assessment of a confidential House study which predicts that President Ford's de-control scheme will cost consumers an additional $16 billion a year in inflation and lost production.

Overall, the study forecasts, consumer prices will climb as much as two per cent. Auto sales will fall off by about 10 per cent, says the study, and some 400,000 to 800,000 additional people will be added to the unemployment rolls.

In short, President Ford may be right that his re-election chances depend upon the economy. If so, the House study indicates there is some stormy political weather ahead for the President.

No Reprisals: Before the fall of Saigon, we quoted intelligence warnings that the communists would direct a bloodbath in South Vietnam. It is only fair that we now report that the postwar intelligence reports contain no evidence at all of a bloodbath.

In some villages, hated village officials were killed apparently by their own neighbors. A few secret police officials were also accused of tortures and were condemned to death by "People's Courts."

But there have been no mass reprisals -- at least not so far -- against officials of the former South Vietnamese regime. The worst that has happened to them has been enforced "re-education" in communist principles.

The latest intelligence reports, meanwhile, contain ominous new warnings. There is evidence that communist insurgents are getting captured American weapons from the Vietnamese for use in Thailand and Malaysia.

The intelligence reports warn that the communists are preparing for a major guerrilla offensive in both countries. This could turn Thailand and Malaysia into another Vietnam by 1977, according to the reports. We'll have to wait, of course, to find out whether these reports are accurate.

CIA Report: The Senate intelligence committee will issue its preliminary findings next month on the CIA assassination plots against foreign rulers.

Sources who are helping to draft the report tell me that the committee will accuse the CIA of recruiting Mafia mobsters to assassinate Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. The committee will also charge that the CIA supplied weapons and money to the assassins who killed Dominican Dictator Raphael Trujillo.

The Senate report will also call for changes in the law to prevent the CIA or any other government agency from participating in any future plots to murder foreign leaders.

The committee will also conduct public hearings this fall into such intelligence activities as domestic spying, FBI burglaries, mail openings, telephone taps and Internal Revenue harassment.

Sassy Solons: Irreverence seems to be the hallmark of the freshman class of Congress. The junior members, for example, are behind the move to dump House Speaker Carl Albert.

Recently, the Air Force had the temerity to release an investigative report to the press before giving it to the young congressman who asked for it. An Air Force general visited the lawmaker to offer his abject apology. "I feel like turning in my sword," said the brass hat.

Came the reply: "Why don't you fall on it first."

Privileged Customers: All mail delivered to congressmen is supposed to carry stamps or the congressional frank. But the House post office relaxes its rules for a few privileged mailers. Embassies, federal agencies and even some lobbying groups, with a little help from their favorite legislators, get their mail delivered to congressional boxes for nothing. It costs the taxpayers a lot of money, but the House postmaster says the service is an important courtesy.

Friendly Flyboys: The Air Force recently saved the day for Sen. Edmund Muskie. He was in his home state of Maine when word came that the Senate was planning a crucial tally on the new voting rights bills.

Muskie raced to the airport, but missed the plane by minutes. He tried to get a charter, but none were available. So he called the nearby Loring Air Force Base to see if they had any southbound flights available.

The brass re-routed a training flight from the Midwest to Washington, and Muskie made the vote with just minutes to spare.

Rosh Hashanah
September 6th

Honeymooning in Europe, are Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick Antonellis, who were married August 9, at West Parish Chapel, Andover.

The bride is the former Jacqueline Ruth Kylberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kylberg, 8 Azalea Drive, Andover. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Antonellis of Waltham.

The Rev. David Duncan of West Parish Church officiated at the 11 o'clock service, which was written by the bride and groom and included much audience participation. Candles were the only decorations in the old stone chapel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown with sequins underlining the sheer, bib-like trim on the bodice, long, puffed sleeves, and a ruffle at the hemline. Her headpiece was a simple ring of flowers, and she carried a cascade bouquet of roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Karyn Kirchmayer of Rexford, N.Y., attended the bride as maid of honor, and bridesmaid's included her cousin, Patricia Lukmire of Essex Fells, N.J.; Janice McDevitt of North Reading; Chris Birch of Berlin; and Jeanette and Donna Connolly of Andover. The groom's sister, Nancy Antonellis of Waltham, was flower girl.

The attendants made their gowns of white, printed taffeta, with pink underlinings, picking

Holy Days To Begin With Selichot Service

George Urdang, president of Temple Emanuel, 483 Lowell Street, Lawrence, and Walter Wertheimer, announce that a special Selichot Service preceding the Rosh Hashanah Festival will be held at Temple Emanuel Saturday night, August 30.

The service, which is scheduled to begin at 10:30 p.m., will be preceded by a coffee hour and discussion beginning at 10 p.m.

This Selichot Service is part of the High Holiday Ritual which concludes on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. Some of the prayers in this Selichot Service are repeated on both Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur and others have been prepared by the Liberal Rabbinate of America for this special occasion.

The word, "Selichot" literally means 'forgiveness' and these prayers recited at this solemn religious season on the Jewish calendar are intended to awaken the mood of repentance and forgiveness.

The service will be chanted by Cantor Irving Shuman of Temple Emanuel and the service will be conducted by lay people under the direction of Mr. Wertheimer. Members of the Temple Youth Group will also participate in this service.

Temple Emanuel extends an invitation to the Jewish community at large to join with them for this special Selichot Service.

Oktoberfest To Benefit Area Charities

The Andover Exchange Club, newest member of the National Exchange Club, will play an important part in this year's Oktoberfest celebration, sponsored by the Lawrence Exchange Club tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at the Lawrence Municipal Parking Lot at Canal Street.

"The Lawrence Exchange Club is directly responsible for Andover having its own Exchange Club," says club president, Gil Barrett. "They sponsored us for membership and devoted a tremendous amount of time and effort to helping us get off the ground."

"Our main objective will be to give them manpower support for the Oktoberfest; however, we will watch closely the behind the scenes work to help prepare us for the events the Andover Club will be undertaking in the very near future."

Patterned after the 16-day Oktoberfest celebration which started in Germany in 1810, the festivities feature Oktoberfest beer, specially prepared German dishes, and the continuous playing of music in the German tradition.

Domestic beverages and foods are also served, all under a huge 10,000 square foot tent.

"They have raised $7,500 for charity during the first two Oktoberfests. It is the Lawrence club's number one fund raiser," Barrett reported. "We hope to be able to attain the same level of success for our club's endeavors as soon as it is reasonably feasible."

Senior Citizens, showing their Senior Citizen card, will be admitted free Friday night.

Oktoberfest times are: Friday,

6 to 10; and Saturday and Sunday, 2 p.m. to midnight.

The Children's Room by Ruth Hooten

The first week in September will be a quiet one for the Children's Room. No programs are scheduled due to the long Labor Day weekend and the beginning of school. So enjoy the last few days of vacation. See you when school starts.

Recycling Called The Fourth "R"

Reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic -- and recycling.

As children return to school this year, many will find this fourth "r" added to the traditional three.

"Recycling, especially aluminum recycling, has vital ecological lessons to teach -- how energy can be saved, how litter can be reduced and how natural resources can be conserved," says James J. Buckley, Reynolds Aluminum eastern regional manager for metal recycling, "and schools recognize how important it is to give students a chance to develop an awareness of environmental problems and -- even better -- a chance to get involved in doing something about them."

Many schools, as part of their ecological programs, encourage students to collect and bring recyclable aluminum to school where it is turned in to Reynolds and the proceeds used for special environmentally-related school projects.

But non-students can take heart. This month the Reynolds mobile unit will be at Methuen Mall from 10 a.m. to noon next Wednesday, Sept. 3, and on Tuesday, Sept. 30, to pick up and pay 15 cents per pound for all-aluminum beverage cans and other small clean household aluminum such as frozen dinner trays, pie pans, foil and pudding and snack dip containers. Although all-aluminum cans have rounded bottoms and no side seams, they are most easily identified by their non-magnetic properties. There are approximately 23 12-ounce aluminum cans to a pound.

"Aluminum recycling is growing at such a rapid rate," says

Buckley, "that at Reynolds thus far in 1975 we are redeeming the equivalent of 36 per cent of the cans we manufacture or roughly one out of every three cans produced and sold by our Can Division which is the leading manufacturer of aluminum cans in the country."

And although in 1974, Reynolds paid the public $5.4 million for recyclable aluminum, in the first six months of 1975 it already has paid the public $5.8 million.

Aluminum may also be turned in at the Reynolds Boston area service center, 50 Tower Road, Newton Upper Falls, open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Some courses that may be of particular interest to seniors are Planning for Retirement, Volunteer Opportunities Unlimited, General Medical Information for the Layman and The Natural Food Movement.

Planning for Retirement is a four-evening seminar for those who are approaching retirement and would like to discuss ways to make their retirement years enjoyable and fulfilling. Social Security, Medicare, estate planning, wills, disposal of real estate, state and federal taxes, financial investments, the psychological impact of retirement, and constructive use of leisure time will all be covered.

General Medical Information for the Layman is a new non-credit course which is aimed at helping people better understand the current techniques for prevention, recognition, and therapy for some important medical problems common to twentieth century man.

Senior Citizens who enroll for these or any of the 71 other non-credit courses may be eligible for a 50 per cent tuition reduction. Andover School Bus Code

With the advent of another school year parents are urged to instruct their children on the contents of the Andover School Bus Code as adopted by the Andover School Committee.

Students who violate this code, violate the rights of other students on the bus and possibly subject these students to undue safety hazards.

Everyone share equally in the responsibility of maintaining proper discipline and safety on the school buses. In order to establish proper standards of behavior and to provide a safe and enjoyable ride for every student transported, this bus code is published so that every parent may have an opportunity to contribute to this goal.

Students

1. ONLY authorized students may ride the bus.
2. Obey the driver in all matters pertaining to the operation of the school bus. The bus driver is the representative of parents and teachers and is directly responsible for the safety of each student on his bus.
3. Exercise courtesy towards others while loading, riding and leaving the bus. Application of this simple rule will result in a more enjoyable ride to school each day and will prevent many unpleasant situations from arising.
4. Arrive at the bus stop on time and wait for the bus on the curb or shoulder off the road.

5. Cross highways and streets only in front of the bus. Move away from the front bumper of the bus approximately 6 - 8 feet so the bus driver can observe your crossing. Do not run or dash into street or roads without looking both ways even though the bus driver has traffic stopped.
6. Avoid trespassing on private property and being noisy.
7. Board the bus in an orderly manner when the bus has come to a full stop and the driver has opened the door.
8. Assignment of seats is left to the discretion of the bus driver and/or school authorities. However, if seat assignments are made compliance is mandatory.
10. Remain seated until the bus comes to a full stop, then leave in an orderly manner.

11. Allow standees off first once the school bus has come to a full stop.
12. DO NOT TALK to the driver while the bus is in motion.
13. Avoid actions that might distract the driver and result in a serious accident.
14. Keep your voice low, no shouting, whistling, rough housing, pushing, fighting or throwing objects.
15. Do not extend arms or any other parts of your body out the windows. Do not throw any objects or spit out the bus windows.
16. Do not smoke on the bus.
17. Ask the driver's permission before opening the windows.
18. Help keep the bus clean and report anything damaged in the bus to the driver. Do not eat or chew gum on the bus.
19. Keep books/bundles out of the aisles and do not carry heavy objects on the bus that might cause injury to other students. If you carry small animals on the bus for school projects, you are responsible for their containment while en route to and from school.
20. Ride your assigned bus and do not ask the driver to make unauthorized stops unless written permission is received from your parent and agreement is reached between the principal and bus driver.
21. Report any violation of these rules to your bus proctor, the bus driver or your teacher.
22. Violation of the above rules may result in suspension of your bus riding privilege.

Accident Procedure

1. Keep calm and follow the directions of the bus driver. Stay in your seat until the bus driver tells you what action to take.
 - A. Do not touch any emergency equipment until told by the driver.
 - B. In case of fire, leave the bus in an orderly manner and move to the nearest exit away from the fire.
2. If the driver is injured and unable to move, notify the nearest adult or contact the police or fire department on the nearest phone.
3. Report any injuries to yourself or other students to the driver.

Parents

1. Instruct children on the content of the bus code.
2. Support the bus driver in maintaining discipline on the bus.
3. Ensure children arrive at the bus stop on time.
 - A. Supervise children at bus stops when necessary.
4. Make suggestions in writing to the Office of Business Services to improve the bus routes.

Justifiably Proud

Andover High custodians took on a major task over the summer - refinishing the gymnasium floor. From left: Emile Tremblay, Ralph Couture, Wilfred LaRoche and Alfred Cartier.

School Opens Thursday

units to provide direct instruction in elementary grammar, to be continued in junior high.

Pupils will be tested in the ninth grade, Westcott says, as to their basic English grammar competency. If they don't pass, they will be given an intensive grammar course until they succeed.

When they do pass, they can take advantages of the options in high school English such as poetry, writing, drama, TV tape making, and independent reading.

Also over the summer, Westcott says they have completed a junior high science curriculum that has been three years in the making. It features participatory learning, lab work and "discovery," and Westcott says he's "completely confident" that it will provide a continuum from the elementary to the high schools.

New Attendance Policy

New at the high school is an attendance policy which gets parents more involved, and sets penalties for absences.

Assistant Principal Wilbur Hixon says an explanation going home to parents allows them to choose whether they'll notify the school by phone on the morning of an absence, or by note upon the pupil's return.

In the first case, parents will be contacted by school personnel if a pupil is absent without notice. In the second case, parents will be notified when attendance "is creating a problem" in classroom work, but before a course failure takes place due to poor attendance.

At a recent headmaster's convention, Hixon said attendance was voted the number one problem "and we're trying to cure this."

In order to earn credit in a course, a pupil cannot exceed allowable absences, and grades can be lowered one level for every two unexcused class absences during a grading period. Three unexcused tardinesses to class will count as one unexcused absence.

While there's no academic penalty for an excused class absence, it is counted toward the total allowed for the grading period.

A student who totals 10 or more class absences during a grading period will receive a grade of F, though exceptions may be made where the absences were due to factors beyond the students control, such as religious holidays, verifiable medical reasons, death in the family, or a school-sponsored activity.

A student who accumulates 15 or more absences in a course during a semester will receive a final grade of F for that semester, with the same exceptions as above.

Absence from an assigned study hall will result in a detention for each violation, and pupils may be detained after school for unexcused tardiness to school.
